Grand Rapids, Michigan — UFP-Edge, a distinguished brand renowned for its excellence in wood siding, intricate patterns, and precision trim, is proud to unveil its latest partnership with International Wood Products (IWP), an acclaimed distributor in the building products industry. This partnership heralds a new era of expansion, significantly broadening the reach of UFP-Edge's esteemed trim products into diverse markets.

International Wood Products will assume a pivotal role as a distributor of UFP-Edge's Primed SPF with XTP (exterior topical preservative) trim and Premium Primed trim. The initial focus will be on the robust California market, with promising prospects for further territorial expansion.

Chris Hayn, Vice President of UFP-Edge, expressed his enthusiasm: "It is with great excitement that we align with International Wood Products, forging a path to introduce our superior primed trim products to previously untapped markets. This strategic alliance is a testament to our unwavering commitment to enlarge our national presence and ensure that a broader spectrum of customers gains access to the unparalleled quality of UFP-Edge products."

"California is a key market for us, and we are excited to introduce UFP-Edge's Premium Primed SPF with XTP trim and Premium Primed trim products to this region. These products exemplify the quality and innovation that both IWP and UFP-Edge are known for," said Josh Hamilton, IWP's President.
