UFP-Edge, a leading brand in wood siding, pattern and trim, today announced a key partnership with Wolf Home Products®, an innovator and leader in the building products industry. UFP-Edge products will be distributed out of Wolf's three facilities, encompassing the Mid-Atlantic, Northeast, and Midwest regions.

The distributed products include:

- Thermally Modified Wood Collection, Rustic Siding: Ideal for both exterior and interior use, this collection provides a rustic aesthetic and is less vulnerable to shrinking and seasonal shifts due to its thermal modification process.
- Thermally Modified Wood Collection, VG Hemlock Siding: Elevating any interior and exterior space, this collection showcases the natural beauty of a smooth vertical wood grain surface and provides protection from the elements.
- Premium Primed Trim & Fascia: Primed on all sides and ready for a top coat of quality paint, this durable product is made from clear finger-jointed Radiata Pine and is available in a smooth S4S profile.
- Timeless Nickel Gap Shiplap: Already primed for paint, this adds a touch of modern farmhouse to interior walls and ceilings with an interlocking pattern that requires less fasteners for installation.
- EvoTrim™ with TRU-CORE® Technology: Wolf Home Products will be the exclusive distributor of this technology for long-term exterior trim and fascia solutions.

"I am thrilled to announce our groundbreaking partnership with Wolf Home Products," said Chris Hayn, Vice President of UFP-Edge. "This landmark collaboration marks a pivotal moment in our history as we expand across all markets. United by common values and a shared vision, we forge a strategic partnership committed to delivering outstanding products to the marketplace. This alliance solidifies our commitment to the Northeast, Mid-Atlantic, and Midwest regions and will be pivotal to our future success."

Wolf Home Products aims to add a full inventory of UFP-Edge products to its extensive portfolio by early January. With a range of warranties, coatings and primers, sizes, and interlocking patterns, these products are designed to stand the test of time and meet the needs of varying projects.
