New partnership increases access to engineered exterior wood trim for builders and contractors in Southern California and Texas

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., November 3, 2026 — EDGE, a leading provider of exterior trim and siding products and part of UFP Industries (NASDAQ: UFPI), is pleased to announce that J&W Lumber has joined its growing EvoTrim™ dealer partner network. Through J&W Lumber and its parent company, Decks & Docks, EvoTrim will be available to more builders, contractors, and homeowners across Southern California and Texas.

Customers will be able to purchase and order EvoTrim at J&W Lumber in Southern California and Decks & Docks South Texas locations, with next-day delivery options providing convenient access to the product for upcoming projects through Prowood Distribution.

“Partnering with growing and established dealers like Decks & Docks is at the core of our strategy to expand the EvoTrim product line and make it more accessible to building professionals who rely on quality trim products,” said Dominic Beaulieu, managing director at EDGE. “J&W Lumber and Decks & Docks have both built strong relationships with contractors and builders through exceptional service and quality products. We’re excited to build on those relationships and work alongside their teams to bring EvoTrim to more projects.”

EvoTrim, infused with TRU-CORE® technology, is an engineered wood trim treated throughout with five EPA-registered preservatives to protect against rot, mold, decay, insects, and termites. Each board is factory-primed with two coats of exterior primer and backed by a 40-year limited warranty. Available in smooth and textured finishes, EvoTrim is designed for exterior trim and fascia applications.

J&W Lumber has served Southern California's building community for more than six decades, supplying lumber and specialty building materials to contractors and homeowners. Now part of Decks & Docks, J&W Lumber combines its established local presence with the resources and distribution network of a national building materials supplier.

"EvoTrim is a top-tier product from a top-tier brand, and bringing it into our lineup is part of our commitment to a best-in-class buying experience. Exterior trim is a growing opportunity, and we're excited to give outdoor building products customers throughout our network more choice, quality, and value," stated Travis Smith, Vice President - Central at Decks & Docks.
